My traveling experiences

Even sometimes traveling is a tiring thing for me if I have to spend too much time on the transports.

But I love traveling and always regard it as a pick of break and relax.

For instance, I went to Shanghai last summer.

After my university entrance exam, I had lots of fun there.

I visited the Bund, Yuyuan Garden, Fudan University and the World Expo.

I was so astonished by the beauty in Shanghai no matter at day or night.

Also, I met an old taxi driver whom told me a lot about the historical pasts of Shanghai,

I just forgot that I am a modern people instead of appearing many imaginations about the past Shanghai, about I were a Shanghai girl have been living there.

Every traveling experience for me has their meanings.

For most of the time, traveling can makes me feel relax and it's always good to experience another culture difference.

This Shanghai trip is a very wonderful journey in my life!

My best friend

Her name is Karen.

She was always the smartest girl in my class,
but sometimes she seemed lacking of basic life knowledge.

For instance, she didn't know who's 周美青 and didn't know how to ride the bicycle.

Because of this, I always make some jokes about it on her.

But she never minded, for the reason that she also has something can laugh at me.

So we laugh at each other a lot, we had fun every day.

I wasn't the hardest working student in my class;

however, she studied harder than others.

She always chattered on and on about I should study more, so my future can be brighter!

I know she took care about me very much and wanted to have the same University with me.

Nevertheless, at the end of my senior high school time, we didn't enter the same university; but, we still remember each other a lot and contact each other very often,

even more than my parents.

In my mind, she has a very innocent-natural person mind, she never did something bad to people, I deeply believed.

I always feel very comfortable with her.

And even more, we promised each other that we will be each other's bridesmaid in the future!

This sisterhood of us must be some destiny. Thanks for God!

Richness passing by but reply her: "I need to carry my gold and fortune; there is no place for you!"

then Proud passed by and said: "you are so wet that might destroy my boat!"

and Sadness said to Love: "Sorry, I am too sad that need to be myself."

Happiness was too happy that she didn't hear Love.

Love was so disappointed and felt hopeless.

Suddenly, a voice asked Love to come inside the boat.

Love quickly jumped in.

After they achieve a peaceful place, the guy left.

Love didn't know who saved her so she asked Knowledge.

He said: "that's Time." "Why?" Love said.

And the Knowledge replied: "because only Time understands how valuable Love is."

Your good deed for the day

Have you ever think about other people's life when you see them for the first sight? I do it very often, especially to the old people who selling products on the street. When I walked by the MRT station, it's not surprise for me to hear some voices persuading you to buy bubble gun, flowers, pencils or the lottery tickets. I always buy something from them or just give them some money, for I can't image that how their family situations are, how their stories had gone in their lives. There is one thing which gives me a deep impression that I want to share with you guys. I remember that's the Sat. afternoon 2 weeks ago, I handed out with my college mates, we went to a very famous Café shop for the muffin. It was awesome tasty and we had a very great time. But the muffin was too large for me to finish it, honestly, I only finish a half of it, so I asked the waitress to package it and took it out. Later, I said good bye to my college mates and was planning to go to other place. While I took a rest and seated next to a family in the MRT station, I noticed there was another man beside me, he looked very tired without energy and wore a logy cloth, suddenly, I think of my muffin, I think I should give him. Before I left there, I gave him the package of my muffin, he said thank you a lot for me with a very appreciate eye expression. And because of this, I felt very satisfied for the whole day!
