2010 Taipei International Flora Exposition

“We really want to visit the 2010 Taipei international Flora Expo!” We were chatting about the beautiful sceneries and the blossom decorations in the parks during Ivy’s class. “What makes you guys want to join this event?” Ivy walked by and asked. I said, “Well...it’s a milestone for Taiwan--- the first international-caliber gardening event to be held in Taiwan. I am really proud of this!”

What’s more, Taipei is the seventh city in Asia to win the honor of hosting the international Flora Exposition. Also, this Flora Expo is different from the pasts comparing to the other countries. The expo areas include four park areas which the visitors will experience history, fine arts, high-tech, and various special architectures. Third, the transportation plays a big role. The MRT in Taipei is very useful and convenient to both my local but foreigner friends. Finally, it is going to present countless flowers and magnificent plants from around the wide world like eco-friendly garden and Chinese medical herbs and more and more!

People can only appreciate this memorable experience from November 6, 2010 to April 25, 2011 in Taipei. In a word, we must attend this grateful event!
